Arrival in Kathmandu

Arriving in the bustling city of Kathmandu, Fiona was immediately overwhelmed by the vibrant sights, sounds, and smells that filled the air. The narrow streets bustled with activity, and the rich aroma of Nepali cuisine tantalized her taste buds.

As she delved deeper into the heart of the city, Fiona began to notice the reverence and admiration the locals held for their beards. Men adorned with intricate facial hair seemed to command respect and awe from those around them.

Driven by her own fascination with beards, Fiona sought to uncover the secrets behind this admiration and show the world the beauty that lies within a well-groomed beard.

Connecting with the Locals

Determined to immerse herself in the local culture, Fiona sought opportunities to connect with the Nepalese people. Through passionate conversations and genuine curiosity, she developed deep bonds with individuals who were proud bearers of traditional Nepalese beards.

One such connection was made with Rajesh, a local shopkeeper who possessed an impressive beard that he considered a source of spiritual strength. Rajesh spoke at length about the cultural significance of beards in Nepal, their symbolic representation of wisdom and masculinity.

As Fiona listened intently, an idea began to form in her mind - to document the lives and stories of these bearded individuals, showcasing the pride and tradition they embody.

A Beardafari Into the Himalayas

Eager to uncover the true essence of Nepalese beard culture, Fiona embarked on an adventure into the majestic Himalayas. Equipped with her camera and an insatiable thirst for knowledge, she ventured into remote mountain villages, where the natural beauty seamlessly intertwined with the ruggedness of bearded lives.

Through her lens, Fiona captured breathtaking images of elderly men, their beards cascading like ethereal waterfalls. Each photograph told a story - a testament to a life lived with unwavering strength and wisdom.

These images, accompanied by heartfelt interviews, formed the backbone of her project - a celebration of the beauty of beards, the resilience of the Nepalese people, and their unbreakable spirit.

The Journey Within

While Fiona's project was primarily focused on showcasing the external beauty of beards in Nepal, she soon realized that her journey went beyond surface-level aesthetics. It became a journey of self-discovery and personal growth.

Interacting with the bearded men of Nepal, Fiona witnessed firsthand their humility, kindness, and profound wisdom. They taught her about inner strength, resilience, and the importance of embracing one's true self, without fearing societal judgment.

With each passing day, Fiona felt her own spirit growing alongside those magnificent beards. The synergy she experienced with the people she encountered resonated deep within her soul, ultimately transforming her perspective on life.

When the author and her partner were offered the chance of spending five months teaching English in a remote village high in the Himalayas of Nepal they grabbed the life changing opportunity.

'A Beard In Nepal' is the story of the time they spent living in the small, isolated village of Salle, which is almost untouched by Western civilisation, and in manic, crowded, noisy Kathmandu.

A compulsive read, often humorous, we follow the couple from Liverpool as they struggle with the daily challenges of altitude sickness, severely restricted diet, and close encounters with wild tigers. The book describes their often comic attempts to teach English to a group of lively youngsters in a wooden hut in a forest, using blackboard and chalk, and without the benefit of electricity, water or toilet!
