Emily took Bambina into her home and gave her all the love and care she had been missing. But there was one mystery that remained unsolved - Who do you belong to, Bambina?

Determined to find Bambina's original owner and understand her story, Emily started her search. She reached out to local shelters, posted flyers, and shared her story on social media, hoping that someone would recognize the beautiful dog with soulful eyes.

The response was overwhelming. People from all over the city came forward with their own stories of encountering Bambina. Some had tried to help her in the past, while others admired her resilience from afar. But none of them knew who Bambina truly belonged to.

The search continued, and with each passing day, Bambina's story touched the hearts of an ever-growing community. The local newspaper caught wind of the heartwarming tale, and soon Bambina's face was plastered across the front page. The title read "Lost But Not Forgotten: The Mysterious Journey of Bambina."

Offers to adopt Bambina poured in from far and wide, but Emily knew in her heart that Bambina deserved to be reunited with her original family. She couldn't bear to see the spark in Bambina's eyes dim with the loss of yet another home.

Months went by, and just when hope seemed to wane, a breakthrough happened. A woman named Sarah reached out to Emily claiming to recognize Bambina. She had seen the newspaper article and was certain that Bambina was her beloved dog that had gone missing a year ago.

Emily and Sarah arranged a meeting, and as soon as Bambina caught sight of Sarah, her tail wagged uncontrollably. It was a moment of pure joy and reunion.

Bambina had finally found her way back home.

As the story of Bambina's journey spread, it touched the hearts of people all around the world. Bambina's tale became a symbol of hope, reminding us that even in the darkest moments, miracles can happen.

The love between Bambina and her original family blossomed once again, and Emily became an honorary member of their lives. The community that had come together to search for Bambina continued to support the family and ensure her well-being.

Bambina's story is a testament to the power of love and the unbreakable bond between humans and animals. It serves as a reminder to cherish and protect the vulnerable beings around us, and to always hold onto hope, no matter how dire the circumstances may seem.

Rosa migrated to Australia when 11 years old, in 1961. She was born in S. Caterina dello Ionio, a village on the hills overlooking the Ionian Sea, to the east, in the arch of the foot of the Italian Peninsula. When her eldest granddaughter, Matilda, started asking questions, what it was like growing up there, Rosa decided to write it down for her other grandchildren. Life in S. Caterina was like growing up in a medieval village. This changed when more than a quarter of the population migrated for a better life. This book describes how Rosa remembers growing up, the freedom, the food, the customs, and festivals. If some of the details are inaccurate, she apologises. It's how she remembers them - with great affection.
