So why exactly should you consider taking handwritten notes? Let's dive into the benefits that this age-old practice can bring to your life:

1. Enhanced Learning and Retention

When you write by hand, you engage multiple senses, including touch and kinesthetic memory. This enhances your learning and retention capabilities compared to typing on a keyboard. Studies have shown that individuals who take handwritten notes are more likely to understand and remember information long-term.

As you write, your brain actively processes the information, resulting in better comprehension. Plus, the physical act of writing also helps you stay focused and attentive during lectures or study sessions.

2. Improved Creativity and Critical Thinking

Writing by hand encourages creativity and critical thinking. The act of forming letters and words manually stimulates your brain in a different way than typing. This process strengthens the connections between your thoughts, allowing you to better express ideas and solve complex problems.

Handwritten notes provide the freedom to create diagrams, sketches, and mind maps, fostering a visual understanding of the subject matter. You can easily connect different concepts and draw connections that might not be apparent when typing.

3. Personal Touch and Elegance

There's something incredibly elegant about handwritten notes. The unique handwriting of each person adds a personal touch and creates a sense of identity. By using handwritten classic notes, you can showcase your individuality in a world dominated by digital text.

Moreover, when you write with a pen and paper, you have complete control over the appearance of your notes. You can experiment with different writing styles, colors, and even embellishments to make your notes truly yours. This customizable aspect adds a touch of artistry to your studies or professional endeavors.

4. Connection to Tradition

Handwritten notes carry a sense of tradition and nostalgia. They connect us to a time when writing was slower and more deliberate. By participating in this ancient practice, we pay homage to those who came before us, who relied solely on ink and paper to document their knowledge.

You can enhance this connection by using elegant, high-quality stationery that elevates the writing experience. From elegant pens to fine parchment, there's a wide range of accessories available to enhance the tradition of handwritten classic notes.

5. Reduced Screen Time and Distractions

In today's digital age, we spend countless hours staring at screens. Taking handwritten notes allows you to step away from screens, giving your eyes and mind a much-needed break from technology's constant presence.

Additionally, using paper and pen eliminates the distractions that come with digital devices. No more notifications, pop-ups, or the temptation to jump on social media. With handwritten notes, you can focus solely on the task at hand, leading to increased productivity and concentration.

↳ helps you find largest max (maximize)

E.X. 2 numbers that add to 20 w/ a greatest poss. prod.

$$P = x \cdot y \quad x + y = 20 \rightarrow y = 20 - x$$

$$P = x(20 - x)$$

$$P = 20x - x^2 \rightarrow \text{graph to observe max. value}$$

↳ inverted parabola

x	P(x)
0	0
5	75
10	100
15	75
20	0

max product is 100 → occurs when $y = 10$ and $P(x) = 100$

OR... you could take the first deriv.
to find the slope of the line tang.
to the curve → rel. max when $v = 0$

$$P(x) = 20x - x^2$$

$$P'(x) = 20 - 2x$$

Set equal to 0!

$$20 - 2x = 0 \rightarrow -2x = -20 \rightarrow x = 10$$

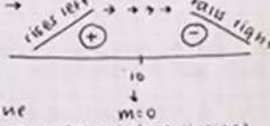

↳ how do you know it's a max and not a minimum?

2nd derivative test → find whether it's concave up or concave down

$P''(x) = -2$ → negative, so it must be concave down

first deriv test (sign line) →

↳ if $P''(x)$ is negative in terms of x , plug in original value!

Procedure → find max/min value

1. Set up an equation for the product (maximize) ↳ in other words, write an eqn. for quantity to be maximized or minimized in terms of one variable
2. Take the first derivative and set equal to zero!
3. Solve... is it a max or min? take 2nd deriv' → test
using the 1st or 2nd deriv test

E.X. An open box is made by cutting congruent squares from a 20 x 25 sheet of tin and folding the sides
How large must the cutout squares be to create the maximum volume?

$$V = l \cdot w \cdot h$$
$$l = 25 - 2x$$
$$w = 20 - 2x$$
$$h = x$$
