The Captivating Characters

Central to the charm of The Birdwatcher Mysteries are the diverse and fascinating characters that inhabit its pages. Max Hilton, with his sharp intellect and unwavering determination, serves as the anchor of the series. Readers are instantly drawn to his quest for justice and his unyielding love for birds.

Supporting Max is a cast of equally intriguing individuals, each contributing their unique expertise to unravel the mysteries. From his trusted journalist friend, Sarah, to the reclusive but brilliant forensic expert, Dr. Harold, Max's entourage of accomplices brings depth and authenticity to the narrative.

Furthermore, as the plot unravels, readers encounter an array of twisted antagonists whose motives challenge Max's understanding of humanity. These villains, shrouded in a cloak of secrecy, feed the suspense and keep readers on the edge of their seats.

Each character in The Birdwatcher Mysteries is painstakingly crafted, their personalities meticulously developed to create an immersive and relatable experience for readers.

The Allure of Birdwatching

While The Birdwatcher Mysteries offer a thrilling narrative filled with twists and turns, it also allows readers to delve into the captivating world of birdwatching itself. Through the eyes of Max Hilton, they explore the beauty of diverse bird species and the tranquility that immersing oneself in nature can bring.

From the vibrant splashes of color across the avian canvas to the serene melodies that fill the air, The Birdwatcher Mysteries provide a rich sensory experience that captures the essence of birdwatching. Readers find themselves yearning to witness the majestic flight of an eagle or the grace of a hummingbird as it hovers near a flower.

This immersive experience is enhanced further by the remarkable attention to detail within the novels. Author Jane Foster meticulously describes each bird species encountered, allowing readers to envision and appreciate their unique characteristics.

The Legacy of The Birdwatcher Mysteries

Since its debut, The Birdwatcher Mysteries have amassed a devoted following and garnered critical acclaim. With their enthralling blend of suspense, ornithology, and vivid imagery, these novels have redefined the mystery genre.

The series' popularity has led to adaptations in various forms of media. Television series, podcasts, and even video games have attempted to capture the essence of The Birdwatcher Mysteries, drawing fans deeper into the gripping world created by Jane Foster.

Beyond the world of entertainment, The Birdwatcher Mysteries have also inspired a surge of interest in birdwatching as a hobby. Many readers have become ardent birdwatchers themselves, seeking solace and marvel in nature, just as Max Hilton does.

As you immerse yourself in the captivating world of The Birdwatcher Mysteries and its first installment, "The Mass of Murder," you will find yourself succumbing to the allure of birds, the thrill of solving a puzzling mystery, and the satisfaction of accompanying Max Hilton on his perilous journey.

Prepare to be captivated, enthralled, and motivated to grab your binoculars and embark on your very own birdwatching adventure.

"Everything you expect from a good mystery - a smart detective and a plot that takes some surprising twists ..." Margaret Coel

A RANT OF RAVENS: BOOK ONE

Her marriage in shambles and her fast-paced life stuck in low gear, Rachel Stanhope seeks refuge at her Aunt Miriam's Colorado ranch.

Rachel agrees to go on a birdwatching expedition and makes a gruesome discovery—the dead body of a reporter.

Then, while Rachel is busy sorting out possible motives, three rare birds go missing and her aunt disappears without a trace.

Unable to convince the police her aunt hasn't fled town, Rachel turns to the birdwatchers for help.

DEATH OF A SONGBIRD: BOOK TWO

Lark Drummond's luxury hotel is packed with hundreds of convention-goers.

To make things worse, her friend and business partner, Esther Mills, has cancelled the hotel's coffee order and refuses to tell her why. Lark takes a few hours off to go birdwatching with her friend.

But things quickly go from bad to worse when Lark peers through her scope and witnesses Esther's murder.

When Esther dies, Lark inherits the coffee company, and soon discovers she may now be a target of the killer.

A NEST IN THE ASHES: BOOK THREE

National Park Service ranger Eric Linenger has been asked to oversee a "prescribed burn" of 1,000 acres of Rocky Mountain National Park.

The fire threatens important bird habitat, and his friends at the birdwatchers' club are strongly opposed. But it's Eric's job.

When the body of Eric's boss, Wayne Devlin, is found near the origin of the blaze, it appears as if Eric deliberately intended the fire to rage out of control.

Determined to find out what went wrong, Eric investigates. He discovers a myriad of people had reasons for ensuring the burn went all to blazes—including some of his friends.

DEATH TAKES A GANDER: BOOK FOUR

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Special Agent Angela Dimato responds to a report of a sick bird and discovers her partner dead - tangled in a bird-banding net.

His death is officially ruled a suicide, but Angela finds the theory suspicious.

Assigned to oversee a local ice-fishing tournament on Elk Lake, Angela discovers the strange demise of two hundred Canada Geese on the ice, the night before the start of the tournament.

More determined than ever to find justice for her partner, the Special Agent and the local birdwatchers set out to expose a murderer, and an environmental disaster in the making.

A SACRIFICE OF BUNTINGS: BOOK FIVE

Rachel Wilder hasn't seen any of her friends from Elk Park in over two years, when she's asked to join them at a birding convention in Georgia.

She's not quite sure who's more excited - she or her boyfriend, Kirk Udall, an investigative reporter. It turns out the keynote speaker at the birding convention is Guy Saxby, the subject of his latest investigation.

Then, Saxby becomes the prime suspect in the murder of his protégé, Paul Becker, whose startling exposé would have upstaged his mentor's research on the painted bunting's prime habitat.

But Saxby's not the only one with a motive to kill Becker.

A PARLIAMENT OF OWLS: BOOK SIX

During a routine tour of the Rocky Mountain Arsenal, Angela Dimato assesses the growing prairie dog town within the national wildlife refuge when she spots a person out among the burrows of the prairie dog village.

Ordering the visitors to remain on the bus, she hikes out to investigate, discovering the body of a woman. Unfortunately, the only witnesses are the black-tailed prairie dogs and a parliament of owls.

It will take all of Angela's investigative skill to unearth the killer before more the death count rises.

Chris Goff is a former journalist and the award-winning author of eight novels—six in the bestselling Birdwatcher Mystery series.
