

Tips On How To Get Tennis Scholarship

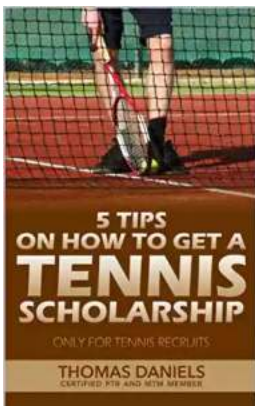

The Road to Securing a Tennis Scholarship

For aspiring young tennis players, getting a tennis scholarship can be a dream come true. Not only does it provide the opportunity to pursue higher education, but it also allows athletes to continue developing their tennis skills. However, the competition for tennis scholarships is fierce, requiring a strategic approach and certain key steps to increase your chances of success.

1. Excel in Your Tennis Game

The first and most crucial step towards securing a tennis scholarship is to excel in your tennis game. Coaches and recruiters look for athletes who demonstrate exceptional skill, technique, and passion for the sport. Regular practice, participation in tournaments, and seeking professional coaching can significantly elevate your tennis performance.

When competing in tournaments, it's essential to maintain a positive attitude and display good sportsmanship. Colleges and universities want athletes who not only possess excellent tennis skills but also show character and integrity both on and off the court.

2. Achieve Academic Excellence

While tennis skills are an essential factor, academic performance cannot be overlooked when it comes to securing a scholarship. Maintaining high grades and a strong academic record will make you a more attractive candidate to universities offering scholarships.

Strive for top grades, participate in extracurricular activities, and prepare diligently for standardized tests such as the SAT or ACT. Consult with your school counselors or teachers to ensure you meet the academic eligibility requirements set by colleges and universities.

3. Create a Compelling Athletic Resume

Your athletic resume serves as a crucial tool to showcase your tennis achievements and skills. It should include your tournament results, ranking, awards, and any notable achievements. Be sure to provide contact information for coaches or references who can support your abilities and dedication to the sport.

In addition to your tennis accomplishments, include information about your academic achievements, volunteer work, leadership roles, and any other activities that highlight your well-roundedness. This comprehensive resume will demonstrate that you are not only a talented athlete but also a committed student.

4. Attend Tennis Camps and Showcases

Tennis camps and showcases provide excellent opportunities to gain exposure and catch the attention of college coaches. Research and attend reputable tennis camps and showcases, particularly those organized by colleges and universities offering scholarships.

When attending these events, give your best performance, interact with coaches and players, and make a lasting impression. Coaches often use these events to evaluate potential recruits, so it's essential to stand out from the crowd.

5. Reach out to Coaches

Take the initiative to reach out to college coaches and express your interest in their tennis program. This proactive approach demonstrates your dedication and enthusiasm for joining their team. Send personalized emails or letters to coaches, accompanied by your athletic resume and any tournament videos or highlights that showcase your skills.

Be persistent but respectful in your communication, as coaches receive numerous inquiries from prospective players. Attend college tennis matches whenever possible, and introduce yourself to the coach if the opportunity arises.

6. Consider Athletic Scholarships and Financial Aid

While full-ride scholarships are highly desirable, it's essential to explore other options for financial aid. Partial scholarships or a combination of athletic and academic scholarships can still significantly reduce the financial burden of college tuition.

Research financial aid opportunities provided by universities, including grants, work-study programs, and student loans. Consult with your school's financial aid office to understand the options available to you and learn how to maximize your chances of securing financial assistance.

7. Prepare for Interviews and Campus Visits

If you've caught the interest of a college coach, they may invite you for an interview or campus visit. This is an excellent opportunity for both parties to get to know each other better and assess the potential fit.

Prepare for these interviews by researching the college's tennis program, its coaching staff, and its academic offerings. Think of questions to ask the coach, but also be prepared to answer any questions they may have for you. Dress professionally and showcase your enthusiasm and commitment to both tennis and academics.

Securing a tennis scholarship requires dedication, hard work, and a strategic approach. By excelling in your tennis game, maintaining academic excellence, creating a compelling athletic resume, attending tennis camps and showcases, reaching out to coaches, considering various financial aid options, and preparing for interviews and campus visits, you can significantly increase your chances of obtaining a tennis scholarship.

Remember, the road to a tennis scholarship may not be easy, but with determination and perseverance, it is entirely attainable. Start early, stay focused, and never underestimate the power of hard work and passion.

"If you want to get a college tennis scholarship for free, please keep reading".

Dear Tennis Recruits.

This ebook will help and show you how to get a tennis scholarship for free to play college tennis.

How?

By giving you a clear and easy 5 step plan that has been proven to work for many tennis recruits here in Japan, that I have worked with, as I write this.

But.

You must start with the end goal in mind and take massive action on getting your tennis scholarship and then adjust those actions as you start to get results from your activities and then follow that up with even more action and you will get your scholarship eventually.

Because.

When you follow that plan and strategy above.

It's not a matter if you will get a scholarship, but it becomes a matter of when you will get it.

That being said and being the case.

Let's now get into some important things that you will learn from this ebook.

LIKE.

1) "How to create and build a team for getting a tennis scholarship".

The ebook will show you how to build a team for getting a scholarship like coaches, teachers, and your parents and or any body else, who can help you with creating a master plan for getting your tennis scholarship.

The first thing that you have to do is create a team and the second thing that you have to do is get with your team as soon as possible and create a master plan for going about and getting your scholarship.

2) "You will decide your level of play."

Make sure you go over this with your team first.

And be honest with yourself, what level can you play at?

Is it D1 or D2 or NAIA? Don't worry, because there are a ton of schools out there to target and play for.

But make sure you are able to play at the level that you choose.

3)" How to start contacting college coaches".

Now that you have your team in place and have come up with a MASTER plan for getting your scholarship.

It's time to start contacting the coaches.

You will be shown how to use the "Law of Averages" to make sure that you contact enough schools and you will be shown how to keep updating your list monthly, so you won't be wasting time with coaches, who aren't interested in recruiting you.

4) "In this chapter you will be taught how to communicate with the coaches".

This is a very important chapter for you too.

Because you will have to be able to sell yourself to the coaches in an articulate way.

And remember.

Your parents and coaches and teachers can't do this... YOU have to do it yourself.

The ebook will walk you through the whole process, so don't worry about that at all.

And the last step.

5) "You will learn how to close the deal on getting your tennis scholarship".

This should actually be the easy part of the whole system.

(Because the previous steps are designed to presell them on your character, ability and leadership).

So, when you reach this point.

Just ask for or you will be offered a tennis scholarship.

Alright.

That is the 5 step plan for getting free scholarship.

And it cost only a fraction of what you would pay to a recruiter.

Yes!!! Any high school tennis player can get a tennis scholarship with this 5 step plan, even if they aren't being recruiting right now!!

Okay, that's all I have for you guys right now.

I will say this though and I really mean it.

Don't waste your money on going to any of these outside recruiters.

I have seen what they do and I have seen many recruits get misled and that is why I wrote this ebook.

Frankly speaking too.

All you have to do is take the outline that I just share with you and get started and figure it all out as you go along.

But, I would love to walk you through the process as well and save you a lot of time and energy.

for you is this...
