Have you ever dreamt of achieving something extraordinary? If your answer is yes, then you must hear the inspiring story of Megan Werner. ## Age Is Just a Number

They say age is just a number, and Megan Werner is a living testament to this. Her journey began when she won a scholarship to attend the Airlink aviation school in Johannesburg, South Africa. However, it wasn't just about becoming a pilot for Megan. She had a bigger dream in mind – motivating and empowering the youth to believe in themselves.

Despite her own age and limited resources, Megan decided to build an aircraft with a team entirely composed of teenagers. This ambitious project aimed to show the world that young people can achieve anything they set their minds to. The aircraft would be named "Spirit of I Can" to symbolize the power of determination and self-belief.
